Congratulations to Jim Warrender and his team on a most enjoyable show, the more so as his first year as Birman Show Manager proved to be something of a baptism of fire in the late run-up stage, with three judges having to cancel (two at the last minute due to illness) and then finding on set-up day that the show had to transfer to another hall at the venue due to a heating breakdown. But there was a happy festive atmosphere with many exhibitors and their families sporting eye-catching Christmas jumpers for the competition judged in the afternoon by Jim and his Assistant Lynda Ashmore. I myself had a most pleasurable day with my camera catching up with human and feline friends, and meeting some new ones, and regret that I did not have enough time to photograph more of our beautiful Birmans before my Trophy Secretary duties claimed my attention once the Best in Show exhibits had been chosen and announced. My congratulations to all the winners.
